We place great value on the relationships we have with our customers and distributors. The spirit of these relationships is at the very core of the new website. As a company, we continuously evolve to meet new expectations and better support relationships both new and longstanding. The new site is part of our growth, designed to better support our customers and distributors by reinforcing our relationship through stronger and wider communication. This website has been designed along this path, to give our customers and distributors an important instrument to share our information, documents, and to follow our communication day by day.

The new website presents a better organization and a quick availability of content and information. An integrated approach that improves user searches. The aim is to increase the usability and interactivity by all users, not only new ones but also our customers and distributors using it daily. So that information is more immediate.

Not just a "classic showcase" through which to communicate with customers and distributors, but a technologically advanced platform, complete with many useful documents available for everyday users.

A very useful feature of our website is the possibility for customers to upload logs related to their systems, an important option to better and increase our customer support. The logs will be displayed in a special page within the customer's reserved area, an automatic email will be sent to Etere Support Service in real-time. It works on all browsers.
