Boston

Boston: As part of its global strategy, ETERE, a leading ITALIAN manufacturer of Tv automation systems, has established a new office in Boston, Maynard.

The new office in Boston provides an opportunity for ETERE Automation to broaden its entrance into the American market.

Its geographical location allows for instant access to and direct contact with customers throughout the US.

ETERE Automation is now in the heart of the global media environment.

The new office will provide up-to-date information, technical support and services as well as being a bridge to Etere's headquarters in Boston.

This office is a center of training support for American customers and a regional marketing and sales division.
